THEY WANTED TURKEY FARE.

ALLEGHENY CHARITY DEPARTMENT OVERFLOWED WITH PEOPLE ASKING ALMS.

DISTRESS IS VERY GREAT.

Most of Them Desired to Spend a Happy Thanksgiving Day.

THEY COULDN'T GET TURKEYS.

Very many poor people, who are in the lower strata of privation, applied at the Allegheny charity department for relief yesterday. They came in unusually large numbers, and the charity officers said it was the fact of Thanksgiving which impelled them to seek assistance. More than 50 women crowded the office of the department, and sought Inspector Elchbaugh, to ask him for supplies for the cupboard for to-day.

There was a general belief among the poor of Allegheny that the charity office distributed tickets for Mrs. Gusky's turkeys, but this was not so. Yet the poor women found out that they couldn't get a turkey they applied to Inspector to give them other supplies. Not one-half of those who applied to the charity department were accommodated, although all the cases were deserving.

One poor woman, Mrs. Mary Holm, of 55 Spring Garden avenue, asked for a turkey; she said that her husband was dead and that she had 11 children, the oldest 17 years and the youngest 8 months-old, and that she had to support the entire family by herself by her washtub. Although the woman didn't get a turkey the department found a way to relieve her distress and shed a little sunshine into the home on Thanksgiving day.

Another poor woman, who had four little children trailing after her, poorly clad and looking wan, also asked for help. She said she had come from Poland five years ago, and that since her residence in this country she had lost her husband and was hardly able to eke out a living sewing. This woman was also relieved.

The charity officials, however, refused a large number of applicants because many of the people who applied for alms had husbands living, though some were out of work, and should have barely made enough money to give them the necessaries of life. The poor began to congregate almost as soon as the office opened and they kept up a constant stream the whole day. At some time during the day the rush was so great that the office did not afford room for them, and they were piled outside along the hallway.

Inspector Elchbaub stated to a "Post" man that he had not known so many seekers after charity for a good many years past.

A WORD FROM MR. WILSON.

The Carnegie Music Hall Manager Says He Was Misquoted.

To the Editor of The Post:

The article in to-day's paper regarding the request of the Salvation Army to use Carnegie music hall for a Sunday service is misleading, and your reporter was misinformed. The manager of the hall has no discrimination whatsoever with regard to free or paid rental either weekdays or Sundays. The board of trustees of Carnegie library fixed the time of the opening of the hall established a fixed tariff of rentals, and this tariff governs the manager in every contract he makes. As is well known, the rental charge to local charitable organizations is not as large as that demanded from those who make a business of giving entertainments, but you misquote me in saying that the Pittsburg orchestra is given the hall rent free; this is not the case, and never has been.

When I found that the Salvation Army could not pay the sum of $50 rental, which, provided the trustees voted to let them have the hall on Sunday, would be the sum asked, there was nothing further to be done, and in the interview I held with its representatives I endeavored to make clear the fact that I had no option personally as to the free or paid use of the hall.

Yours very truly,
G. H. WILSON,
Manager Carnegie Music Hall.

There seems to be a misunderstanding as to the powers of Manager Wilson in regard to the rental of Carnegie music hall. Mr. Wilson is not a member of the trustees, told "The Post" reporter that Manager Wilson had absolute control, making the schedule of rates, and on his authority the statement was published. If the reporter misunderstood Mr. Wilson as to the Pittsburg orchestra's use of the hall a retraction is certainly in order.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Peculiar Wreck on the Pennsylvania Near New Brunswick.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Two men were killed and several others were injured in a double train wreck on the Pennsylvania railroad near New Brunswick, N. J., to-day. The casualty involved the Washington express for the city, which at the moment was running at the rate of 50 miles an hour. This train and a freight were running on parallel tracks, when the breaking of a truss on one of the freight cars threw it from its course and directly in the way of the express, the locomotive of which struck the freight and wrecked each of them.

It was overturned and plunged down an embankment 12 feet, falling upon and killing Engineer Joseph Morgan and Fireman H. W. Chesbro. Mail Clerk Lambert, of Washington, was unconscious when taken from the wreck. Robert Tobabon, of this city, a passenger, was badly hurt, but fatally injured. There were a number of people in the day coaches who sustained bruises and scratches, and one, John Myers, may die.

Senator Quay's private car was on the train as far as Philadelphia, but there it was detached, the senator remaining on it.

RULED AGAINST MONOPOLY.

Important Decision Involving the Making of Photograph Films.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 25.—Judge Townsend, of the United States circuit court, handed down a decision to-day in the case of the Eastman company, of Rochester, N. Y., against Getz & Houghtaling, of Buffalo, N. Y., alleging infringement on patents owned by them on a process for making photographic films. A victory for the Eastman would have established a complete monopoly of the manufacture of films used in cameras of the snap-shot class. The case was dismissed.

Pastor Was a Politician.

MARIETTA, O., Nov. 25.—Rev. J. G. Smith, of the Harmar Congregational church of this city, has resigned at the request of the members. He took an active part in the campaign, and almost his entire church held opposite political views from their pastor, and considerable feeling was engendered.

LOOKING AFTER COSTS.

Resolution Passed at the County Commissioners' Convention.

READING, Pa., Nov. 25.—After a session of two days the state convention of county commissioners adjourned this evening to meet in Gettysburg at the call of the executive committee. To-day it was decided to ask the legislature for a number of radical changes in the existing laws. By a vote of 49 to 14 the following was passed:

"It is the sense of this convention that the law in criminal cases be changed so that hereafter when an unfounded criminal charge is brought before a justice of the peace or other committing magistrate the costs be placed upon the prosecutor, and in default of the payment or the giving of security to pay the same within five days the justice shall commit said prosecutor to the county jail for not less than five days nor more than 30 days; also, that when a case of misdemeanor is returned to court and the grand jury ignores the bill and places the costs upon the prosecutor, or upon a trial of the case in court the jury puts the costs upon the parties or either of them, the court shall sentence such persons or parties to pay the costs or give security to pay within 10 days, and in default of the costs so imposed by the jury to imprison the county jail for not less than five nor more than 60 days, in the discretion of the court."

The legislature will also be asked to change the time of issuing the books for the triennial assessment to the first Monday in September to provide for a proper classification of cities and counties. Other commonwealth, to permit legislation required by each class of cities and counties, and to permit all county officials to be paid salaries instead of fees. They also favored an amendment to the constitution of Pennsylvania of holding but one election every year and arranging it so that national, state and county officers be elected every two years, as their terms may expire, and to hold the municipal or local elections every alternate year, separate and apart from other or general elections, and changing the terms of local and municipal officers to one and four years.

The following executive committee was appointed: P. W. Seibert, Allegheny; J. F. Hunsicker, McKean; William H. Hipple, Delaware; W. W. Griest, Lancaster; Giles Roberts, Lackawanna; C. H. Scott, Dauphin; R. P. Hopwood, Fayette; A. S. Woolridge, Clearfield; D. A. Sawdey, Erie; H. Thomas Garrett, Chester; Frank Reeves, Lycoming. The committee of county clerks was announced as follows: Albert F. Mogel, Berks; J. A. Delaney, Erie; E. G. Ball, Susquehanna; W. S. Hoster, Blair; J. C. Gates, Cambria; J. L. Crumm, Northumberland.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

Attorney-General McCormick Says a Woman May Be a Corporator in a Company.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 25.—Attorney-General McCormick has given a very and important interpretation to the act of June 3, 1887, known as the married woman's property act, and the act of June, 1887, which extended and repealed the former one, in which a married woman is authorized to be one of the incorporators of a corporation. This decision reverses one made on the same question by Attorney-General Hensel, who, in several instances, decided adversely.

Mr. McCormick to-day gave an elaborate opinion to Secretary of the Commonwealth Reeder, in which he says the subscription to the capital stock of a corporation, whereby a married woman becomes an incorporator, is a contract upon her part to pay the sum so subscribed. If she may make a subscription to the capital stock of a corporation, and be liable on such contract, it would seem that she would be fully qualified as an original subscriber to incorporate, and liable as such; for a married woman may now enter into the partnership, and be held liable individually liable for all the debts of the partnership, as stated in Brooke vs. Mechanics National bank. The attorney-general concludes:

"I am therefore of opinion that a married woman is not disqualified by her coverture from being one of the five corporators in the above proposed corporation."

FEAST DAY CELEBRATED.

Religious Services at Baltimore Attended by Monsignor Martinelli.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 25.—Monsignor Martinelli, the Roman apostolic delegate, took part in his first public function in Baltimore at the cathedral this morning. The occasion was the celebration of the feast day of the patron of St. Mary's, the Virgin Mary.

A pontifical mass was sung, beginning shortly after 10 o'clock. There was a procession through the church from the sacristy, in which there were several hundred seminarians and a number of local and visiting priests. Monsignor Martinelli was in the ranks, walking just before Cardinal Gibbons, who brought up the rear. They were each attended by deacons of honor. The officers of the mass were Monsignor Martinelli, celebrant; Father O'Hara, of Brooklyn, N. Y., assistant priest; Father Kelly, Boston, and Father O'Farrell, of Richmond, Va., sub-deacon.

Cardinal Gibbons occupied his throne on the left, and there were many prelates in the sanctuary. The altar was ablaze with lights and was pretty thickly strewn with flowers.

As the conclusion of the mass the sermon upon the occasion was delivered by Father Sylvester, of Lowell, Mass.

Canada's Idle Men Meet.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 25.—At an immense mass meeting of the unemployed held last night some very strong language was used by the speakers against the government and city council.

Resolutions were passed favoring abolition of the monopoly in land by removing all taxation from buildings and personal property; that the government establish by law a minimum rate of wages of 15 cents per hour.

A Smooth American in Paris.

PARIS, Nov. 25.—An actress named Mme. Calmettes has been swindled out of $9,000 worth of jewels by an American named Cassidee, who represented himself as the agent of a company in New York, which advanced money on valuables. Cassidee got the jewels and then decamped. It is alleged that he is from New Orleans, where he committed a similar robbery.

Lively Litigation Over the Estate of Mary Ann Holmes.

DECLARED THE DOG WAS A THIEF

Testimony has been filed in the divorce case of Mary D. Crowley against Wm. H. Crowley, Monongahela county, and hearing for argument. The couple were married December 1, 1875, in Hazelton, Pa. They resided in Ohio for some time, and then came to Pittsburg. From here they went to Chicago, and then to New York. Mrs. Crowley was born and raised in the East End, where she is now living, with her mother, at 1212 Penchne street. The bitterness of the struggle is to the effect that Crowley was an excessive drinker and frequently abused his wife.

Mary Bandy, neighbor of the libellant, testified that when Crowley and his wife lived here she was kept in constant fear of him killing his wife. She considered him a dangerous man. Julia Crowley, aged 20, 17 years of age, now an office boy employed by Scaife & Sons, testified that she is the father and mother lived on One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, New York, his father was very abusive. He threatened to kill his wife with a bludgeon on one occasion and at another time he took all his wife's clothes and cut them up in small pieces with his pocketknife. She had nothing left but one calico wrapper. This was eight years ago. Mrs. Crowley left her husband and returned to her mother's home in Pittsburg, and Crowley has not been heard of since.

There promises to be some interesting litigation in the estate of the late Mary Ann Holmes. Mrs. Holmes died at her home in Green Tree borough at 5 o'clock yesterday morning and at 9 o'clock her will was presented for probate in the register's office by Lawyers Miller & Moreland. The register appeared to be in possession of the fact that proceedings were begun in the common pleas of Allegheny to have Mrs. Holmes declared feeble-minded, under a decree of the orphans' court. The petition had been filed by John Holmes, a son of the deceased.

The lawyers were informed of these proceedings, and it was suggested that they defer filing the will until it is discovered what disposition of the proceedings in the common pleas courts. It is understood that a hearing was to have been had in the matter next Saturday. The son desired to have a guardian appointed for his mother. Now that she is dead the matter has become incidental.

It is not known what the will contains, but it is said to be a very lengthy document. Mrs. Holmes's feeble-mindedness dates back several years, and if the will was written within that time there will probably be contests. Attorney Clark Norton Petrie, of the register's office, declined to state what he knew about the will.

Mrs. Holmes died late Dr. J. C. Nelson, the dentist, who died at his home in Crafton last Saturday afternoon from taking too much morphine to relieve his pain. Dr. Nelson gives a portion of his real estate to his mother, who lives in Crafton, and leaves the residue of his estate goes to his mother.

Mrs. Holmes's late Pittsburg home, on the East End, leaves all his property to his wife, Mrs. Emma Nelson.

Wm. Welsh, late of Allegheny, makes a will bequeathing his property to his wife, Mary Welsh.

Mrs. Emma Hunsicker filed a caveat against the admission to probate of any document purporting to be the will of her father, Frederick Starr.

In equity court yesterday Judge Collier reversed the judgment of Alderman Frederick Burkes, of Sewickley, who fined Walter Stone, of lower Allegheny, for alleged cruelty to a dog owned by Ferdinand Kirchman. The dog was shot by Stone on Sunday morning, and for that at the animal, breaking and entering the premises of the owner, and for allowing the animal to be killed immediately. The defendant claimed that the dog was wanted to kill it and complete its job, and he was justified in shooting it to prevent further injury to the animal the dog was worrying and killing.

The appeal of Solomon Freedman from the decision of Magistrate Mathews, who fined him for disorderly conduct, resulted in the case being dismissed by the court. Mr. Freedman's contention was that he was in and outside of his place of business, and that he was not guilty of any disorderly conduct. The court adjourned until Saturday morning.

A Scottsdale man by the name of Lorenz office has been a very busy place in the past year. There was a time when a decrease of a little over 11 per cent in the number of letters passed through it with the two days preceding Thanksgiving, but after that the letters started and were found on those two days, and when the Thanksgiving day came the eight the number issued for Tuesday and Wednesday, 1,000.

George Schwartz & Co. have made a well-deserved compliment to Mr. Dickerson, County Controller James A. Grier paid them a visit on Monday. He wanted to know the amount of the verdict Hickel recently got in a case against the county, interest and costs. Hickel claimed $1,500 for preventing place from being used as a jail, it was built, and Mr. Grier refused to pay.

The arguments in The Dispatch libel suit were concluded before Judge W. W. Thomson. Attorney Ed. Schopp closed his argument for the plaintiff at noon, and Mr. Moreland for the defendant was occupied until Friday. Attorney Mr. Thomson will take the remaining argument for the defendant, and probably conclude on Friday and Saturday, and possibly part of Monday. After that, if the plaintiff's counsel wishes to add to the argument, he can, and then the case goes to the jury.

Important Court Ruling.

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—Judge Aldrich filed an opinion in the United States circuit court to-day on a question of law in the case of the National rock wrapper company vs. Arthur S. Leland, which is of great importance to the public in ticking in the federal courts. It prohibits the filing of interrogatories to be answered under oath, and using them as evidence.

Boston May Have an L Road.

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—The Kidder, Peabody-Morgan faction was in the market for control of the West End street railway company. The decision of the management is understood to mean that Boston will have an elevated railroad for ticking in the federal courts. It prohibits the filing of interrogatories to be answered under oath, and using them as evidence.

Fire Menaced 400 Girls.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Four hundred girls were in peril of fire in Brooklyn this afternoon when fire broke out in the six-story tobacco factory of Noerr & Co. The inmates all escaped without serious injury. The loss to property was about $50,000.

News and Gossip of the Theaters.

One of the most passionate of operas, Puccini's Manon Lescaut, is to be the island of Sicily, the "Cavalleria Rusticana," was the great opera bill last night at the Alvin. It has grown within the few years to be recognized as one of the most popular and powerful of short operas and with the vigorous rendering suited to its fiery nature of the cast last night it proved itself so. Wilda Madam Jannaschowsky did not make up into the ideal of Santuzza, she sang the part well, her powerful soprano being well adapted. Her acting was fine throughout finished, but earnest. Lizzie MacNichol had a mezzo soprano part to sing in Lola, the wife of the teamster, and her contralto of great sweetness and rounded her to do the part the kind of Justice that brings applause. Payne Clarke took the jealous teamster, Turiddu. He was in excellent voice, and his tenor was sweet and powerful. It showed, however, at times symptoms of fatigue. William Mertens repeated his success of Monday with his magnificent acting and heroic singing in the Alvin. The young tenor. Two acts of Verdi's "Rigoletto" were given with the same people in that cast. This afternoon "Martha" is the bill, and to-night Bizet's "Carmen" with the full cast.

William Gillette's sparkling farce, "All the World's a Stage," produced in Pittsburg by the Aronson stock company for next week, it was written as a companion piece to "The Private Secretary," and, like it, promises to be full of rushing incident and ludicrous situations. The company which will play it the twelfth week of popularity and will be retained. Johnstone Bennett and A. Miller Kent being their star. "A Quiet Evening at Wallack's" is doing big business in New York. Others on the bills are Lillie Western, the musical phenomenon, Kennedy and Welch, comedians; Waldo Whipple, the song and dance man, and others.

Georgine von Jannaschowsky, the prima donna of the Metropolitan grand opera company, is a descendant of a noble Polish family, Count Jannaschowsky, having been prominent in the court of Sobieski. When that ancestral fell fate decreed that the descendants of the Sobieski family should be their own resources, and hence came the prima donna. Her early shaped her remarkable voice, and it was cultivated assiduously. She sang in the opera under the auspices in Vienna by her heroine in Bernstein's "Fidelio." Lovers in honor Polish love of freedom led her to marry a Polish patriot, Count Jannaschowsky.

In the way of general melodramatic effects and material there is some choice what comes of the production of "Human Bloodhounds," which Managers Davis & Keogh need to the Bijou next week. Its peculiar incidents and thrilling exploits are secured by the use of such material as the moonshiners of Tennessee, the Colorado Rangers, the service, the Ku Klux Klan, a lynching bee, a Mardi Gras festival in the streets of New Orleans, with plenty of negroes and negro dances and cakewalks. The company is said to be the strongest that ever has been sent out.

A little daughter of E. M. Holland, now playing at the Grand, was christened last night in the Grand, "Little Jim Around the Corner." Mr. Holland himself was married at this theater, the house of worship. His other child, a boy, is named after his father, the gifted uncle, Joseph Jefferson Holland.

Clara Knott, the clever actress who made a hit last season in the Grand, in "Northern Lights," now at the Bijou, in Pittsburg, will be seen in a new play, "A Texas Steer." She is a southern girl, and her part in the play is that of a Texas lass. Miss Knott is also a Vassar graduate, and has proved her versatility by carrying off all available laurels in the Bijou company.

Quite a collection of notables in theatrical work can be seen here this week. Among the Holladays are Congressman H. C. Miner and his partner, Clyde Fitch and Leo Dietrichstein, the author and actor of "Adam Bede." A "Superfluous Husband" and Augustus Thomas, the author of "Alabama" and "Ole of Carterville," were some of the others.

Hoyt's theater, New York, was crowded to the doors last night for the first time "The Gay Parisian," which comes to Pittsburg next week. Lillian Russell Prohman will bring on the entire company, including Mme. Modjeska, Nelson, Sadie Martinot, James O. Barrows and Mrs. Jim Brown Potter, in a new adaptation of the French farce, Meilhac and Halevy's "Frou-Frou." The original form is now in its third season in Paris, and Mme. Modjeska married man who seeks an intrigue with his friend's wife, who is the idol of self and many innocent persons to most complicated situations. The author of "A Night Out" the comedy is running at Daly's under Charles Frohman's management.

Pittsburg likes Hoyt's comedies, and that special reason the Grand Opera House, "White Flag," scored an emphatic hit Monday night. The Grand Opera House Grand next week. Hoyt built it to please the people of Boston. This combination of comedy, light opera, extravagant and made-to-please show, which is a sharp satire on the citizen soldier, will be seen naturally but a fulling bearing, with ample opportunity for pleasing and amusing the people of Pittsburg.

Mme. Modjeska's last appearance in Pittsburg for the season will be Friday and Saturday, and possibly part of Monday. After that, if the plaintiff's counsel wishes to add to the argument, he can, and then the case goes to the jury.

in gathers and the wrists are plainly completed by a narrow belt which encircles the waist. The model devoid of ornamentation can be cut with the greatest economy and the design readily executed by the home dressmaker. For serviceable school wear the pattern is admirably adapted, and when worn by very little girls a dainty white apron of nainsook will be a charming addition, while girls of larger growth may wear any one of the pretty collarettes of white embroidery or batiste now in vogue. One waist copied from this design for a miss of 16 was of indigo blue vicuna, smartened up with white linen collar and cuffs and a pretty stock of ribbon.

To make this waist for a miss in the medium size 4½ yards of 44-inch wide material. The pattern, No. 6922, is cut for misses 14, 16 and 18 years of age. It will be sent to any address by "The Post" on receipt of price, 10 cents, and 2-cent stamp for postage.

HALF HOUR IN ICY WATER.

Perilous Experience of a Lake Captain Who Fell Overboard.

TONAWANDA, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Captain Wm. E. Donnelly, of the schooner Ida, of Buffalo, lumber laden from Cheboygan, Mich., which arrived here last night, had a terrible experience during the trip down the lake. While assisting in tightening a rope it broke and the captain was thrown into the icy water. The heavy sea carried him close to the rudder of the schooner, where he caught hold of it. The crew had gone below to take a hot drink of coffee to ward off the cold. The captain was nearly half an hour before the crew came to his help were heard. When brought on deck he was too benumbed from exposure to death. Captain Donnelly's pocket when he went overboard.

Rumored Bishopric Changes.

DENVER, Nov. 25.—A rumor is in circulation among the Catholic clergy of this diocese that Bishop Matz will be transferred to the archdiocese of Portland, Oregon, which it is said, he has made application for. Bishop Feehan, of the diocese of Chicago, will be appointed his successor here.
